Product Disclosure Statement - Part B*EXCESS ON CLAIMS

This is the amount you may have to pay towards each claim.

A basic excess applies to all claims. It will be a standard amount, or you may also be able to alter the excess amount which will alter the premium that you pay.

A fixed excess may be applied to your policy when we decide to accept the risk. This excess cannot be removed.

Additional excesses that may apply:

- ▶ Earthquake excess will apply to all claims for loss or damage as a result of earthquake
- ▶ Theft/Malicious damage by tenant will apply to all claims for loss or damage as a result of Theft/Malicious damage by your tenants. (Only applies if you purchased the option).
- ▶ Tenant Default will apply to all claims for loss or damage as a result of absconding tenants. (Only applies if you purchased the option).

If you claim for Home and Contents, you will only need to pay the higher of the basic excesses you selected.

The total excess you have to contribute to a claim is the sum of the basic excess, fixed excess and any additional excesses that may apply. We will advise you of all excess amounts when you apply for the insurance, and the excess amount will be shown on your insurance certificate.
